INTERNET APPLICATION FRAMEWORK

The backbone of business in the new Internet economy is a secure, robust infrastructure that empowers e-Business applications.

IAF-based applications address the management challenges of a mobile work force, including total connectivity, data replication and automated deployment control.

ABC Virtual's patent-pending IAF provides an efficient and reliable Java infrastructure on which applications can be built to seamlessly distribute, update and manage data over the Internet.

By utilizing our IAF framework, a custom solution can be developed that integrates your e-Business initiatives with the services of your business partners giving you a significant competitive advantage in deploying mission-critical applications to the Web.
